With the 440A steel as the base, Glestain Steel performs a number of stages of special heat treatment. We thoroughly pursue high quality craftsmanship such as corrosion resistance, abrasion resistance, heat resistance and cold resistance, toughness, stability of hardness, and persistence in sharpness to achieve advanced functions. To the trust of the professional who has innovated in total in all aspects of the conventional It is the name of the world to respond. Glestain is the one with the blade finished by a professional engineer one by one.

<T type> The adhesion resistance applied to the side is minimized at the time of cutting. Because it is hard to adhere to the side of the cutting lot, workability is good, and the sharpness is good. Moreover, because the area of the blade sharpening is narrow, it is a design that is very easy to sharpen.
